Justice, trust and the ethical dimensions of HRD

Stream rationale

This stream provides the opportunity to explore key issues on how HRD interventions can support fairness and trust in modern organisations. Specifically, the stream welcomes contributions that:

- Explore individual level issues around progression, development, appraisal, employee relations and leadership attitudes from ethical, moral and/or fairness perspectives.
- Assess how organisational level issues on HRD practices reinforce fair distribution of learning opportunities, and importantly the conflict between HRD practitioners being a strategic partner and organisation's conscience.
- Examine national level issues on how code of conduct creates a trusted and fairer working environment.

Deadline for submission Monday 13th January 2019
Submit your work on www.ufhrd2019.com
